VisualVault will forge an electronic ecosystem for your business

All organizations live, breath and change. Knowledge and learning continuously evolve. Yet at any instance, immediate needs arises that demand access to best available information.

VisualVault gives you the tools to manage information. Across the organization, data and information can be secured, arranged, developed and delivered for instant access.

VisualVault is Microsoft-centric solution designed to capture information in a simple and elegant manner. The product has several key uses: collaboration, document lifecycle management, form based data capture and workflow. The workflow capability can be used to formalize approvals, document release events, establish form based processes and manage document based training. Search and reporting tools for locating documents and querying data allow the user to define simple to advanced queries, including content level search within documents.

VisualVault creates a single repository for a knowledge base as well as a foundation for establishing business processes and organizational rules. Access is personalized, yet oversight is present to ensure access to content is defined through a series of user permissions and rights.

The benefits of melding VisualVault into the fabric of your organization will maximize use and in turn, expand a centralized knowledge base. The increases in productivity, efficiencies and time-to-find information will provide immediate ROI and a greater ability to serve customers while you have their attention.
